BUBBLE PARTIES.

ONE of the most amusing, as well as easily arranged entertainments for the Holidays, is a "Bubble Party." Twenty or more ladies and gentlemen, enough clay pipes so each will have one, three or four bowls of soap-suds, and, say, half a dozen trifles, for prizes, are all that is required, the prizes to be awarded to those who blow the largest bubbles, one of the party to act as referee.

The suds should be of IVORY SOAP, as it gives a clean, white, and abundant lather, with an entire freedom from oil or grease; and as the materials of which it is made are so clean and pure, it is not at all offensive to the smell or taste, like ordinary soap.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory'!" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.]

Senator Beck's absence has been seriously felt in the Senate since the republican tariff bill has been taken up. He is the one democratic Senator who has the whole subject at his fingers ends, and hope that he would be able to resume his seat at the present session, together with the idea, which for some reasons was prevalent among the democratic Senators, that the republicans would not take up the tariff at this session has doubtless prevented the democratic Senators from preparing themselves to make as stout a resistance as was expected of them to the passage of the bill. This may be remedied yet, but as it stands now, the democrats of the House are expressing great dissatisfaction at what they call the "apathy" of democratic Senators. Mr. Cleveland is also understood to be dissatisfied. In the meantime Senator Beck's physician has ordered him to spend the winter in the south, and he will go to Aiken, S. C.

Representative Mills has broken down under the immense strain of the last session and the campaign. He will go in search of health, and is not expected to return to Washington during this session.

Last week it looked for a while as if the republicans were to lose the next House after all, a recount in several close districts resulting in favor of the democrats, and even now they appear to have a majority of only one, which so far as legislation is concerned is hardly better than a minority. The would-be speakers of the next House are all on the anxious bench.

Secretary Whitney has ordered three naval vessels to proceed to Hayti as soon as they can be made ready for sea, to enforce the demand made by the State Department for the release of an American vessel illegally seized by the Haytian Government.

One republican has been discovered who says that under no circumstances would he be a member of Harrison's cabinet. It is Senator Palmer, of Michigan. He says that after the fourth of March he is going to be a farmer.

No signs of the "business session" of which we have recently heard so much, have yet been discovered in Congress. Already the members are beginning to talk about the Holiday recess, although a short time ago that was to be dispensed with this year.

No legislation looking to the admission of new states is probable at this session. The democrats are willing to pass a bill for the admission of Dakota as one state, provided that New Mexico is admitted at the same time.

This does not suit the republicans. A bill has been introduced in the House to make two states out of California, but nothing is expected to come out of it at this session.

Secretary Whitney favors the establishment in this city of an Army and Navy Museum. The government has in its posession many articles that would make such an establishment a very interesting one to visitors, and the idea has been received with such favor that it is probable that Congress will pass a bill to that effect.

Senator Butler has introduced a joint resolution, proposing a constitutional amendment extending the presidential term to six years. It is an excellent idea, and should be adopted with an amendment making the President ineligible for a second term.

The House committee on invalid pension has reported the pensions appropriated is $81,767,500, and yet some people are not satisfied with the liberality of the Government towards its former soldiers.

Senator Plumb, in a few remarks on the Senate tariff bill, made the fact very plain that he does not approve of that measure as it now stands. He called attention to the duty on silvered glass, which caused every bureau manufactured to cost from two to three dollars more than it otherwise would. It is not made in the United States, and Mr. plumb thinks that it should go on the free list. He also spoke of the steel trust, and mentioned the fact that large sums of money have been saved in the construction of the State House of Texas and a public building at Wichita, Kansas, by the purchase of steel joistes, beams etc, abroad. If Senator Plumb is not more careful in his speeches he will rise up some morning and find himself read out of the republican party.

The Stratagem.

A LITTLE DRAMA IN AN ENGLISH RAILWAY CARRIAGE.

If this story is not as new as it might be it is a very good one: A lady and a gentleman were traveling together on an English railway, where the coaches, as our readers know, are divided into compartments. They were the only occupants of the compartment and strangers to each other. Suddenly the gentleman said: "Madam, I will trouble you to look out of the window for a few minutes." "Certainly," she replied, politely, rising and turning her back upon him. In a short time he said: "Now, madam, you may resume your seat." When the lady returned she beheld her companion transformed into a quietly-dressed lady, wearing a heavy veil.

"Now, sir, or madam, whichever you like," said the lady, "I must trouble you to look out of the window." "Certainly," and the gentleman in lady's attire immediately complied. "Now, sir, you may resume your seat." To his surprise, the gentleman found his lady companion transformed into a man. He then laughed and said: "It appears that we are both anxious to avoid recognition. What have you done? I have robbed a bank." "And I," said the whilom lady, as he dexterously fettered his companion's wrists with a pair of handcuffs, "I am a detective from Scotland Yard, and I have been shadowing you. Keep still, please." And the thief had nothing to say!

An exchange says: The business man who means business does not keep the matter a secret nor can he in this progressive day and age of the world, build up a large trade with out offering bargains. The best goods for the money can always be had of men who advertise. They want your trade and will have it if they are compelled to sell some lines below cost.

Council Proceedings.

The regular monthly meeting of Council was held Thursday evening Dec. 6th, Harman president and Mess. Ringler, Hassert, Sterling, Wolf and Cadow present. The minutes of last regular and special meetings were read and approved.

A committee from the School Furnishing Co. were present and made a proposition that the said company will at their own pr per cost and expense, erect or cause to be erected at least two fire hydrants upon its property and keep them in order dur ng ten years from the time of the construction thereof, in consideration that the town shall release the Company from the payment of Town Taxes for the like term of ten years; the hydrants to be placed so as to be convenient for use upon the occasion of fire upon the premises of the Company, and other premises in the vicinity, and to be used at all times upon occasion of fire in the vicinity when it is proper to use them as public hydrants, the water for such hydrants to be provided and paid for by the said Company and without any liability therefore on the part of the town. On motion the proposition was accepted and unanimously agreed to.

Releases for rights of way for sewer and streets ordered to be recorded.

A communication was received from Mrs. M. Wynkoop asking to have pavement in front of her properties on 6th street protected so that water from the street will not run on said pavement. The commissioner of highways was directed to open gutters along the North side of 6th street.

Council ordered that all property owners on 6th street who have neglected to lay pavements as directed, shall be renotified to lay same within ten days from date of notice, and in default the commissioner of highways shall lay the same with 20 per cent added to the cost thereof.

The secretary was instructed to notify S. C. Shive to repair his pavement along the house occupied by C. C. Mar on Iron street, and put up a railing along and underneath the veranda; also to put up proper conductors to carry roof water from the veranda across the side walk at the premises lately occupied by Mr. Shive; said repairs to be made within 20 days from date of notice, and in default the commissioner of highways shall cause the same to be done, and the cost thereof with 20 per cent added, shall be collected.

A building permit was granted G. W. Sterner for the erection of a brick dwelling on Market street, and G. B. Martin permitted to move his weigh scales 5 feet farther into the Light Street road, provided said scales shall be removed whenever they interfere with the public travel, the grading around said scales to be subject to the approval of the commissioner of highways.

Mr. Harman reported that the full amount of town bonds had been issued and negotiated at par, as directed by order of Council, Oct. 4, 1888.

The Sanitary committee made report that all refuse from cabbage patches throughout the town be buried and that the proper officers be instructed to see that it is done.

The bills and accounts for the month were then read and approved and the secretary instructed to draw orders for the same.

A Raid on Counterfeiters.

DETECTIVES, AFTER A NOVEL INTERRUPTION, SUCCEED IN THEIR MISSION.

WILKES-BARRE, Dec. 13.—For some time a gang of counterfeiters have been operating in Luzerne and Lackawanna Counties with great success.

The United States Marshal, H. Barring, and several deputies discovered lately that some Italians on the border line between the two counties were living on the fat of the land without any visible means of support. They at once traced them up and secured considerable bad money in the neighborhood that had been passed by them. A raid was made to-day upon the house of one John Singer, who lives at Sturmerville, near Pittston. Singer is a leader among his countrymen and he was suspected of being implicated in the crooked work.

The officers went to the house and were somewhat nonplussed to find Singer's wife about to become a mother. No doctor was in attendance and the detectives ministered to her wants. One of them went for a doctor and the others acted as medical attendants to the best of their ability. They were quite successful, and when the woman was made comfortable they proceeded to the business which had in the meantime been deferred. A search of the house was made and a large number of silver dollars and a lot of quarters were found. They were all well calculated to deceive, had a good ring and a fine milled edge. The coin is believed to have been made in New York and plaster casts were evidently used.

Four Italians, John Singer, Fernando Malahasdo, Frank Nicholim and Dominick Gambretta, were placed under arrest, Singer and Gambretta being taken to Scranton and the others to this city, warrants having been is sued from both cities. Other arrests are to be made in a few days.

Death to the English sparrow.

SO THE STATE GRANGE RESOLVES AT ITS MEETING. THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

HARRISBURG Dec. 13.—The most flattering reports of the Pennsylvania Patrons of husbandry were made by secretary Thomas and treasurer Yocum this afternoon. During the year twenty-six new granges were organized adding about 3000 new members to the already large membership, and it is now claimed that numerically it is the largest secret order in the state. There are over $7000 in the treasury, which the expenses of the present session will materially reduce.

The Committee on Transportation and Commercial Relations reported this afternoon, after which Dr. Warren, of Chester, introduced a resolution that if carried out, will exterminate the English sparrow. It provides that petition will be prepared and signed and sent to the legislature praying for an enactment of a law to pay a bounty of two and a half cents on English sparrows. This was unanimously adopted. Dr. Warren, who is the most eminent ornithologist in the State, considers the English sparrow a pest and says that the best way to get rid of them is to feed them grain soaked and strychnine.

This evening the Grange in a body were received at the Executive Mansion by Governor and Mrs. Beaver.

The completion of the election for officers was announced previous to adjournment, the following being selected for a year: Master, Hon. Leonard Rhone, of Centre; overseer, A. F. Maxwell, of Westmorland: lecturer, G. C. Brown, York; steward, S. N. McHenry, Indiana; assistant steward, J. E. McGeary, Westmoreland; chaplin, W. H. Holstein, Montgomery; treasurer, William Yocum, Berks; secretary, R. H. Thomas Cumberland; gatekeeper, Warren Chase, Tioga; ceres, Mrs. Adna M. Holstein, Montgomery; pomono, Mrs. A. H. Olmstead, Warren, flora, Miss Anna H. Bisbing, Montgomery; lady assistant steward, Mrs. M. H. Rhone, Centre; Executive Committee (vote for three), J. B. Kirkbride, Philadelphia; D. C. Kennedy, Erie; A. P. Young, Columbia; Finance committee (vote for one), D. McWilliams, Juniata.

The meeting of the Grange to-night was to hear the report of the committee on the good of the order, which recommended that the Grange work be pushed by the issuing of documents, lectures, etc. The report was adopted. The exemplification of the secret work was then gone through with.

Our Daily Bread.

Heavy and sour bread or biscuit has a vast influence through the digestive organs upon the measure of health we enjoy. How important to our present happiness and future usefulness the blessing of good health and sound constitution are, we can only realize when we have lost them, and when it is too late to repair the damage. Notwithstanding these facts, thousands of persons daily jeopardize not only their health, but their lives, and the healths and lives of others, by using articles in the preparation of their food the purity and healthfulness of which they know nothing. Perhaps a few cents may have been saved, or it may have been more convenient to obtain the articles used, and the housekeeper takes the responsible and possibly will never know the mischief that has been wrought. Paterfamilias may have spells of headache, the children may have lost their appetites, or look pale; if so, the true cause is rarely suspected. The weather, the lack of out door air, or some other cause, is given, and the unwholesome, poisonous system of adulterated food goes on. Next to the flour, which should be made of good, sound wheat and not ground too fine, the yeast or baking powder which furnishes the rising properties is of the greatest importance, and of the two we prefer baking powder, and always use the Royal, as we thereby retain the original properties of the wheat, no fermentation taking place. The action of the Royal Baking Powder upon the dough is simply to swell it and form little cells through every part. These cells are filled with carbonic acid gas, which passes off during the process of baking.

The Royal is made from pure grape acid, and it is the action of this acid upon highly carbonized bicarbonate of soda that generates the gas alluded to: and these ingredients are so pure and so perfectly fitted, tested and adapted to each other, that the action is mild and permanent, and is continued during the whole time of baking, and no residue of poisonous ingredients remain to undermine the health, no heavy biscuit, nor sour bread, but if directions are followed, every article will be found sweet and wholesome.

Dunning by Postal Cards.

THE GOVERNMENT DECIDES THAT DELINQUENT TAX NOTICES SO SENT ARE LEGAL.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 13.—Assistant United States Attorney Alcorn notified Collector of Delinquent Taxes Ford several days ago to discontinue sending notices of delinquent taxes on postal cards. Meanwhile a citizen who had received one of these notices sent it to the First Assistant Postmaster General at Washington asking him: "Is the enclosed postal card a lawful use of the same, or is it a violation of the postal card laws?"

The matter was referred to the Department of Justice and Edwin E. Byant, assistant attorney general, has sent this reply to the Pittsburg citizen: "You are advised that the department does not consider the notices mailed by a tax collector to a tax-payer, informing him that his taxes are due, as a violation of law, as such matter is not sent for the purpose of reflecting upon the character or credit of the addressed."

The P. & R. Company is having an immense snow plow built at the P. & R. car shops at Reading. It will be attached to one of the large freight engines and given a trial. It is to be run over the branch roads and then taken to Philadelphia. The object of the trial trip is to see whether it will pass through the bridges. It is the purpose of the officials to prepare in time for any emergency. It is claimed that the plow will throw the snow twenty feet high and is shaped like a plow shear, except that it divides the snow and throws it on both sides of the track.

We express our sincere thanks to our school board for always selecting us such good teachers. Last winter Mr. Sheridan Fritz taught our school and this winter Miss Nora Harvey, of Fairmount Springs, is our instructor. Miss Harvey takes special delight in instructing her pupils, and they think there never was such a teacher.

We are pleased to see Mr. William Bower of Berwick visiting relatives and friends in our country once again. He is going to spend a few days with us and then, he is going on to Dushore and spend a few weeks.

We should be glad if someone would explain why Mr. Johnny Fritz goes east so much? There must be some lodestone in that direction that attracts him. —Reader of Columbian.

Another Fraud on the Farmers.

A couple of plausable men are traveling through the country on a swindling expedition. They are "well up" on the sheep question and being home spun in their general talk and appearance, are wont to disarm suspicion. They are after lambs. They are devoted exclusively to breeding and selling lambs, but can never get as many as they can dispose of. They sell a ram for $50 cash, on the understanding that they will purchase at good figures all the lambs of his get the next season at weaning time. The sale is effected, the ram delivered and paid for, and the two frauds never turn up again there a second time.

Christmas Proverbs.

A warm Christmas, a cold Easter.
A light Christmas a heavy sheaf.
A green Christmas, a white Easter.
A green Christmas, makes a fat graveyard.
A wind on Christmas day trees will bring much fruit.
If Christmas finds a bridge, he'll break it; if he finds none, he'll make one.
If ice will bear a man before Christmas, it will not bear a man afterwards.
The shepherd would rather see his wife enter the stable on Christmas day than the sun.
If the sun shines through the apple tree on Christmas day there will be an abundant crop the following year.

The Columbian.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1888.

There is no election on hand just now, and therefore we feel at liberty to discuss a subject which we believe needs a thorough ventilation.

There is no county of the same size in the state of Pennsylvania where candidates for public office are compelled to give as little money to the county organization as in Columbia. There is no county in the state where they do give as little. The result is that very often the county chairman at the end of a campaign finds himself out of pocket. Those who are defeated for nomination will not pay anything, and those who are elected, of course there are exceptions, smile at the chairman when he asks them for funds to pay the bill that he has contracted in their behalf. The chairman gives his time and labor for two or three months, he hires halls, bands, horses and wagons to carry speakers about the county, makes speeches himself when everybody else refuses, and has all the worry and responsibility without any compensation, except the honor, and then at the end of the fight when the bills are to be paid and he asks for funds from the successful candidates, he is told that they have no money, or that he has been too extravagant, or he is asked what he has done with all he has already had, with an innuendo that perhaps he has not accounted for all of it. Such are the pleasures of the Chairmanship of the democratic party in Columbia county. We have heard from the lips of one who was often put at the head of the party in this county now deceased, the honor of being chairman had cost him as high as two hundred dollars in one campaign; we have heard from another that he had lost as much as three hundred dollars in the same position. And this not because money was expended profusely or unlawfully, but because the successful candidats refused to pay their assessments and had the gall to let the chairman stick.

There is no use of mincing matters. The party organization is kept up for the benefit of those who seek public office and they are the ones who should pay the expenses of the campaign. The chairman should refuse to contract any bills until he has sufficient money in hand to see him through, and if the candidates nominated by the county convention do not pay these assessments in advance the standing committee should have power to declare the places vacant and to name other candidates. That is the way it is done in some adjoining counties and if such a rule were adopted here it would no doubt have a good effect.

Another matter that requires mention is the indifference shown by candidates after they have secured the nomination. In this county this is equivalent to an election, and so all the effort is expended in getting nominated. Thousands of dollars may be spent before a delegate election, and every woman shaken hands with and every man treated to a drink or a cigar and every baby kissed, but no one ever heard of candidates exerting themselves to get out the vote at the general election. They grow apathetic and willingly permit others to do all the work, and the apathy continues throughout their term We know of one man holding an office a few years ago worth $2500 a year, who contributed the enormous sum of sixteen cents in a presidential year. We know of another in the same year, whose salary was about $1000, who subscribed one dollar and afterwards increased it to three dollars under strong importunity. Civil service reform may say that public officers shall not contribute towards election expenses, but common sense teaches that if those who reap the reward of public offices do not help to pay the expenses of political campaigns no body else will. Those who refuse to pay are the exceptions, but the exceptions have been too numerous in past pears.

Asleep at His Post.

A wreck occured on the Reading Railroad, at West Milton, just across the Susquehanna from Milton, Thursday morning of last week, about 3 o'clock. The first and second sections of freights that left Williamsport about 1 o'clock, collided near West Milton, and the engineer of the second section, Wallace Nattress of Shamokin, was killed.

Just as the second section was approaching New Columbia the fireman went to the engineer and told him to "waken up," finding him very drowsy. He approached him a second time and told him they were nearing West Milton and that the water station was a short distance below. He then seemed to realize his position in a measure, but awoke in a dazed state and blew the whistle to stop. At this time he was running at the rate of sixteen miles an hour, when the approach to a station is, according to railroad rules, not more than four miles an hour.

The flagman of the first section, expecting the second section to make its appearance hurried back to do his work, but as the headlight on the locomotive was not lighted he could only tell by the noise and rumbling of the train when and where it was. It is said that his lights were poorly supplied. On came the second section, however, and the fireman finding his chances for life under the condition impossible, leaped to the ground, saving himself. The engineer, however, stuck to his post, and when found he was dead and had his hand on the lever, although most buried in the debris of the wreck. When dug out his lower jaw was found to be broken, and a wound of some four inches in length on the back of his head, and his body entirely scalded.

It is said by railroad employees that in the forty-eight hours while on duty he had but two hours of sleep.

The result of the wreck to the Reading Railroad Company was the total destruction of the second engine and the piling up and breaking of some sixteen additional coal and lumber cars, on account of which the freight was delayed for ten hours.

The coroner's jury gave the following verdict: "That the engineer failed to do his duty on account of want of sleep, and that the flagman should have taken more precautions."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The annual session of the Columbia County Teacher's Institute met in the Opera House Monday Dec, 17. 1888, at 1:30 p. m., and was opened with music and devotional exercises by Dr. Leverett. The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. Manhart and was very interesting.

Prof. Neff, of Philadelphia, was then introduced, and said that having been introduced to the teachers of this county so often it might be thought that he would come before them without any embarrassment. But it is said to be a very serious matter after all, for teachers naturally expect improvement on the part of the instructor through time and experience. He said he desired to talk on what might be termed the right and the wrong in this matter of reading. Teaching reading is really teaching language. To give a child power to read is really giving him power to interpret the thought. There is a right and a wrong way of teaching this subject. There are some counties in this state where every teacher is doing, absolutely the wrong thing. This is a very serious thing. The right thing and the wrong may be stated in this way. You may set about in a reading class to show pupils how to get out the thought, or how to get into themselves the thought of the lesson. You may teach expression, or you may teach impression. Probably nineteen-twentieths of the teachers in the United States are teaching expression instead of impression. It is absolutely wrong to try to teach expression in a reading lesson. There are three reasons why this is so. The first reason is that the power of getting thought from books is natural with us. Second reason is, the relation of thought getting in other branches of study. The power of getting thought from books enables the child to study Geography, History and all other studies. In the reading class we show pupils how to study everything else. The third reason is the relation of thought getting to expression. The best way to teach one to read a piece is to give such instruction as will enable one to understand all that is contained in the piece. If we teach first how to express what is contained in it, we are doing wrong. Thought getting has nothing to do with expression in the true sense of the term. If a person has a fairly good voice and is full of a subject and is put on a platform before an audience he will be a successful speaker though he may know nothing of the laws of expression.

We cannot put any power in a pupil; we can simply develop what is in them. Do teachers teach reading in other places in the manner that I am talking about? In Philadelphia a course of lectures is being delivered this winter on thought getting. It is not a new thing. We do not all possess the same power of thought getting. How many different degrees of this power are represented in the audience before me; if I could show you the condition of your minds there would be many more than you think. Very few people have power of interpreting thought correctly.

Prof. Cope of the Normal School next talked on "Arithmetic." He said that he did not enter upon the discussion of this subject with the view of renewing the controversy carried on a few years ago in the newspapers. He had no part in that controversy. We have, he said, students coming into our Institution who have been over the subject of arithmetic again and again and who are able to work for the answer, but when asked for reasons we very often find them saying "we have never been taught to give reasons." I am in favor of what is sometimes called the statement method, and sometimes the common sum method. In comparing it with some other methods, I am forced to the conclusion that it is the simplest and least mechanical. The statement asks a child to put down the known conditions of a problem and then to reason toward the result. The Prof. illustrated by numerous problems the advantage of the method, and its adaptations to the developments of its reasoning faculty and how practical it is in its relations to problems connected with the duties of life. He showed how it can be used when ever the relations of quantities are considered, and by numerous illustrations and strong arguments gave reasons for the faith that is in him.

TUESDAY MORNING.

"The child has been feeding his mind before he comes to school by observation. After that the teacher feeds it from books. There are a few points connected with getting thoughts from language which you should understand. You are to show the child how to feed the mind in the new way. You can't go at it blindly, you must understand Physiology. If you look at an object you get a mental picture of it. Where does the picture come from, your mind photographs it. Roughly we say it comes from the object. Suppose instead of looking at the object, we write a description of it on the board. Where does the picture come from when we describe it. It comes from things you have seen before. It is a combination of different things you have seen before. When you get mental pictures from observations, that picture seems to go into your mind from but when you get a mental picture from books it is built up of what was in the mind before. Language does not put anything into the mind, it simply builds up ideas into new forms that were there before. Language is a prescription for a thought. The ingredients are in the mind, pupils who stand up and simply read the words have not the thought. We should never allow a pupil to read aloud until he has satisfied you that he has the thought. When your pupils come to recite a history lesson and they stand up and recite words of the book they are not giving the thought, for if they had the thought they would use their own language. Language and thought are two different things. The great evil of the age is putting language into the mind instead of thought. The language of the books does not tell more than one-third of what you must know to get the thought the pupil then who gets the language of the books never gets the thought. The thought from the book should be as clear as the thought we get from observation.

Home Evidence

No other preparation has won success at home equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. In Lowell, Mass., where it is made, it is now, as it has been for years, the leading medicine for purifying the blood, and toning and strengthening the system. This "good name at home" is "a tower of strength abroad."

People of Lowell

It would require a volume to print all Lowell people have said in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Mr. Albert Estes, living at 28 East Pine Street, Lowell, for 15 years employed as boss carpenter by J. W. Bennett, president of the Erie Telephone Company, had a large running sore come on his leg, which troubled him a year, when he began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The sore soon grew less in size, and in a short time disappeared.

Praise Hood's Sarsaparilla

Mrs. C. W. Marriott, wife of the First Assistant Fire Engineer of Lowell, says that for 16 years she was troubled with stomach disorder and sick headache, which nothing relieved. The attacks came on every fortnight, when she was obliged to take her bed, and was unable to endure any noise. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after a time the attacks ceased entirely.

Many more might be given had we room. On the recommendation of people of Lowell, who know us, we ask you to try

Every since we began showing our Christmas goods we have been wrapping up parcels for delivery on Christmas morning. You'll find out what some of these parcels codtain then. It wouldn't be right for us to tell you. By the way, one never feels meaner in his own estimation than when he receives a present and has none to give in return. Don't be caught that way. Speaking of Christmas cards, we have the freshest lot in town, not a last year's card or a stale design among them. Photograph Albums get prettier every year. We secured some for our Christmas trade this year that for beauty surpass anything ever shown in town. Come and see them even if you dont want to buy. It will do your eyes good to look at them. They're cheap too.

Judge Hinckley has decided that constables cannot recover fees from the county for visiting licensed drinking places, as required by the Act of 1887. The constable is a township officer, and has no claim upon the county treasury except where the law provides for paying him out of the county funds. The law that imposes this new duty upon the constable does not provide any fee for such services, and therefore they must do the work without pay. It is not right to require any public officer to perform any service without compensation, but so the law reads.

The storm which began on Sunday night continued uninterruptedly for twenty-four hours. The river rose rapidly, and the smaller streams became rushing torrents. The Espy road at Troup's along the canal was submerged on Tuesday, the culvert under the canal being insufficient to carry off the water. The Rupert road would have been under water in places below the Barton bridge had the water raised a few inches higher. On the flats up the river there were many large ponds in the fields, showing that an immense quantity of water must have fallen. Besides the rain, there was much snow on the mountains, and the mildness of the weather melted it rapidly.

The Howes in "Our Railroad Men," will appear at the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday evenings, Dec. 24th and 25th. This same troupe has been in this place before, and well patronized, as they deserve. Of this play at Milton the Argus says: "The crying act of Mr. and Mrs. Howe and Lorette Burks was a splendid piece of comedy work, while Rev. Sam Jones, as done by Mr. F. Moore, was far above the standard of the usual dramatic minister. Taken as a whole the play was good, very good.

Tuesday evening they will render Bartley Campbell's greatest of dramas entitled, "My Partner."

This troupe has their own band and will render fine music.

Mr. C. P. Zaner has established an Institute of Penmanship and Art at Columbus Ohio. We have examined a copy of his "Gems" in writing and flourishing, and find in it many new and original designs. Mr. Zaner is certainly a talented young man with the pen, and now that he has established a school of his own we look for unbounded success. Many who have taken instruction in other schools have taken a special course under him, and have testified as receiving more instruction under him in a few weeks than they received in many months under other teachers. We are sorry that he should leave Columbia county but are glad that he has chosen a profession for which he is so specially qualified.

The Mud Run Disaster.

LEHIGH VALLEY EMPLOYERS TO BE INDICTED FOR MISDEMEANOR INSTEAD OF MANSLAUGHTER.

SCRANTON, Dec. 17.—The Board of Government of the Scranton Diocesan Union, which is taking part in the prosecution of the Lehigh Valley employees who caused the Mud Run disaster in which many of their members were killed, has decided, with the consent of its counsel, C. C. Donovan, of this city, and Hon. Michael Cassidy of Mauch Chunk, to have the indictments prepared charging misdemeanor instead of manslaughter, as was first decided. The indictment will be drawn under the law of 1865, which provides imprisonment not exceeding five years and a fine of $5000 in case of conviction. The trial will take place at Mauch Chunk at next months' Quarter Sessions.

Another meeting of the Board of Government will be held to-morrow evening when claimants for damages will agree upon some plan for prosecuting the suits they intend bringing against the company for damages. So far twenty-eight claims are before the board.

Don't fail to call and see J. A. Hess' fine line of boots, shoes, slippers etc.

Scaring the Farmers.

Bucks county farmers are anticipating an outbreak of cholera among their cattle, and already a number of valuable hogs have died of the disease. Every precaution is taken to check its progress. On the farm of Edward Rick, near Schenck's station, two hogs and a large number of fowls have perished. Edward Taylor, whose land is near Langhorne, has lost a number of his best swine, and Joseph Cornell, of Northampton, has suffered the loss of a valuable horse. At Doylestown the malady attacked hogs belonging to William Eisenhart, and all that were afflicted, died. Veterinary surgeons have been in consultation as to the probable origin of the disease and the best means of preventing its spread. Some of them are inclined to believe that it is not cholera, but some new disease with similar symptoms, as the animals which were treated for cholera have not recovered.

Undisputed Merit.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill, attained by a twenty years' practical experience are contributed toward this end, and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact power and effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used or the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business. As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and the leavening effect in any climate at any time. The Government Chemists after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity, and wholesomeness, and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, Dec. 17, 1888.

Unquestionably the widened aisles, new staircases, central elevator, and general clearing away of obstructions make it possible to serve at least ten thousand more people a day with even less crowding than heretofore. If we could serve 40,000 a day last year we can now serve 50,000 and more, and do it comfortably too.

We are always improving. If we were to keep on printing about it, we could make perpetual "alteration sales." You may expect improvements here constantly without our talking about them.

The store is more a store now than ever. Lighter, brighter, completer. Our ideal is being realized.

The Basement has ample outlets and is more convenient.

The first floor is so arranged that things can be more easily found, and is regulated to prevent overcrowding by a system which experience has taught us.

The second floor, now so accessible and popular, presents an entirely new arrangement of stocks. This part of the store seems to be miles of bewildering pleasure. An ever-varying exhibition of silver and art articles. In the middle of the second floor the centre of attraction in the Pneumatic Tube System, gathering the money from all parts of the store in plain view of everybody—a good place to take strangers.

The third floor is where we keep Furniture store. The whole of this two acres is given up to Furniture. And Everything is side by side for comparison, and not on different floors as before, and as other folks have it.

It would be hard not to fall in love with the store now under its new conditions. There is certainly room for 10,000 more persons. See if you dont think so when you look at the straightened aisles, the broadened, easy-going stairways, the spaces given to customers for elbow-room, or to wait for elevators, or to see things.

The store is a sight, that's a fact; working up to-day to its full capacity; "a great and interesting occasion," as the newspaper reporters would put it.

The life of a year of preparation blooms out in these few days. We have but little to say about it, as what we are doing day by day is what we are in business for; keeping the best of the best goods and serving our customers in the best of the best ways. There is no need of being ashamed of this kind of storekeeping. And people will surely find out in the course of time the value of services such as these—even without so much newspaper advertising.

The store will be open each evening up to and including Christmas Eve.

Goods to go by mail can be posted at the Bureau of Information

It will be a favor to us for customers to take their packages with them whenever they can.

It is best to try to keep to the right when going through the aisles.

Bear in mind; the people make the crowds, and with a little thought they can un-make them

The grip Black Silk-warp Henriettas has on your liking tightens with every season. A right royal stuff—if put together right. Some is and some isn't. There's no guess-work about Priestley's, Year in and year out the same—none better. Color uniform and fast.

A new invoice just opened. Every number from 85c to $4 a yard. No other store in town does or can show such a complete line of Priestley's Blacks.

Black Dress Stuffs are easy to get at now; easy to see. Nothing missing that ought to be here.

Hand-run Lace Fichus that were $2.50 and $3 last season, are $1.50 now. Other grades up to $28 as far your way.

So are hand-run Scarfs, and machine-made Scarfs and Fichus, and most of other laces.

$1.50 and $2 real Breton Lace Handkerchiefs for $1 and $1.25.

Concerning Books.

One hundred feet of counter space added to the Bookstore to-day makes buying easier than ever. A quiet corner, won from fine stationary, gives an ideal place for sets of standard authors.

Are you not our debtors in respect of books? Was it not the gauntlet which we threw that "books are merchandise and should be sold as such" that brought down the sky prices? Emancipated you from paying tribute to a price system that belonged to a dead past.

They called us hard names, but we endured the hurt, and to-day the claim is vindicated.

Do you doubt? See Book News. Let him laugh that wins: we laugh, you laugh. Here's little Book News for December; little (?) 112 pages, handsomely illustrated. 5c, 50c a year. What a name for a boys' and girls' paper! What a paper for boys and girls if it fits the name! It does. You won't turn four leaves without saying so.

The easy thing is to shoot a child's paper over a child's head, or under a child's feet, or into blood and thunder on one side or twaddle on the other.

Wide Awake has a different aim. Neither stilted nor babyish. Clean, healthful, cheerful. Full of just the pictures and reading a bright, full-blooded boy or girl cares for. Spirited, sparkling, never a dull page, and never anything to make the most careful mamma hesitate.

Take the December number. Ninety-one pages apart from advertisements and talk of the pretty and useful things little workers for Wide Awake get (very big pay for little effort). Stories, sketches, verses, curious things racily told—by thirty-one popular contributors.

December Wide Awake for 20 cents. A year for $2,40. Can you do better for the children with so little money.

American Club Pattern Skates that were $2·50 last year are $1.75 now; $3.25 grade for $2 50. Price-ice broke through. Every worthy sort — 50c to $4.50.

Down stairs in the store, upstairs in four rooms and the hall, everything is packed full of sleds, wagons, dolls, toy banks, games, guns, mechanical toys, Christmas tree ornaments in great profusion, and a thousand things that one must see in order to appreciate. The display is now ready, and everybody is invited to call and inspect the stock. Take the children in, and let them see what Kriss Kingle has been doing for them.

Neat and Clear-Headed Men

Abhor the idea of an attack of catarrh as they do the bite of a poison snake. Yet this foul and most disgusting disease is very common. In its first stages it occasions very little discomfort and is therefore liable to be neglected. It is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the mouth, nose and throat. The glands and membranes secrete a fluid to keep the mouth, nose and eyes moist. From cold, debility and other causes this fluid is apt to be too copious; that is catarrh. Flowing from the nostrils it causes weak and watery eyes, irritates the nose, causes sneezing, and finally the coughing up and expectoral on of offensive matter These droppings will sometimes collect so rapidly as nearly to choke the person. Unless promptly treated catarrh lasts for years, producing dreadful results. The ordinary symptoms are pain in the eyes and in the forehead over the eyes; a dull, heavy, headache; obstruction of the nasal passages; discharges falling into the throat, and a most offensive breath. On the first sign of its appearance Dr. Brown's Sarsaparilla should be taken to purify the blood, for catarrh is a blood disease. In chronic cases an immediate cure must not be expected; but this great regulator of the blood will, if its use be continued, afford speedy relief and final cure. Hay fever, or cold in the head, a disease of summer chiefly, has similar symptoms and is cured by this remedy in the same way. It is important to remember that catarrh, being neglected, or not arrested, gradually creeps down into the windpipe and lungs and may end in incurable consumption. You may easily and cheaply prevent this terrible calamity by the use of Birds of Pennsylvania.

WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO THE FOOD-HABITS, BASED ON OVER THREE THOUSAND STOMACH EXAMINATIONS. BY B. H. WARREN, M. D., WEST CHESTER, PA. FOR GRATUITOUS DISTRUBUTION.

We have before us an advance copy (proof sheets and plates) of the "Report on the Birds of Pennsylvania," published at Harrisburg, Pa., State Printers office, in accordance with the Act of Assembly, approved May 12th, 1887. The book is octavo size, and including the plates has about 375 pages. The text is printed in a good sized, plain and very readable type. all the species and sub-species are "forms" of both land and water birds, belonging to the faun of our State, and which number considerably over three hundred different kinds, are treated of. Dr. Warren, the State Ornithologist, has given in a concise and terse way the results of his investigations in examinations (dissections) of the food materials of birds, and his careful, systematic observations as a field naturalist, covering a period of about fifteen years. As a result, "The Birds of Pennsylvania" is replete with information which will be of great value to the farmers, as well as instructive to scientists.

The author, evidently recognizing the importance of simplification, which by most writers of ornithological and other scientific publications is seemingly overlooked, has divested his book, whenever practicable, of the numerous and mystifying technical terms, and when such terms are employed they are fully explained so they can be clearly understood by the general reader.

CHARACTERISTICS.

In describing his feathered subjects, the writer has taken pains to point out the individual characteristics of birds, so that they can in many cases be recognized in life, or when flying, walking or running on the ground, or when at rest. Although devoted particularly to the various food stuffs, animal (flesh, insects, etc.,) and vegetable (seeds, cereals, blossoms, grasses, etc.,) on which birds subsist, interesting and instructive mention is made of the life-histories in general of different birds. Indeed it is surprising to find such a vast fund of solid information in so small a space. Besides giving quite a complete account of each of the RAPTORES (hawks, eagles and owls) which are usually found in the State, a chapter is devoted to "Birds of Prey and the Scalp Act of June 23, 1885," which was repealed, except as to wolves and wildcats at the last session of the Legislature. This chapter is particularly interesting, containing as it does, extracts from reports collated by Thos. J. Edge, for the State Board and clippings from observations, reports, etc., of different naturalists relating to the Bounty Act, besides giving the names and numbers of the many birds and animals killed, also the amounts paid for same by different counties.

THE SCALP ACT REPEALED.

The effort to repeal the burdensome Scalp Act, which in a period of about nine months' cost the various counties of the Commonwealth over $100,000, about $75,000 of which was paid for hawks and owls, was begun by Dr. Warren, who is recognized, by naturalists generally, as one of the foremost authorities on the "food of birds" in this country, and as he has dissected over 600 hawks and owls, it is unnecessary to add that his views, with regard to the economical value of the hawk and owl tribes, will justly be esteemed as authoritative. The various members of the sparrow family (over 30 species are found in Pennsylvania), in their several conditions of plumage, are, as every bird-specialist is well aware, exceedingly difficult, at times, to study. The Doctor, appreciating this fact has taken great care to give full and minute descriptions, in addition to having a number of common sparrows, finches, etc., beautifully colored in the illustrations. The destructive English sparrow, and the several other kinds of sparrows which are frequently mistaken by the casual observer for this naturalized bird, are all handsomely reproduced in colors, so that anyone, at a glance, can see the differences, and when they "shoot sparrows" be able to select only the injurious ones. The woodpeckers found with us, both as permanent residents and transitory sojourners, have been carefully worked up, and it is shown, that contrary to prevalent impression, only one kind, called commonly the yellow-bellied sapsucker is deserving of the vernacular name "sapsucker," which is generally yet erroneously applied to the smaller woodpeckers and nuthatches. The author in writing of the red-bellied woodpecker—a bird which by Audubon was found in Pa., as a summer resident (breeding), but that now is said to occur here chiefly as a rare winter visitant—gives a very interesting account of the destruction which this species occasions in the orange orchards of Florida, where the "orange-borers, as they are there known, are the "most plentiful' of all the woodpeckers. This orange eating habit has never before been observed or at least written of by any naturalist. The remarks relative to the food (based on several hundred dissection) of the different blackbirds, the thrushes also the robin, crow and bluejay, will be of particular interest to the farmer and fruit-grower, who often led to condemn these birds for their grain and fruit-devouring propensities and the crows and jays for their nest-robbing proclivities. The nesting materials of the birds which generally rear their young within our borders are described and their usual building sites mentioned; the average measurements eggs, color, marking, etc. are also particularized. An important feature in the book and one which will be especially advantageous to the ornithological student is that in classification nomenclature; the work is in accord with the "Check List of the American Ornithologists' Union," the modern standard authority on such matters. In consequence of the fact that the arrangement and names of birds have undergone numerous changes, the "Birds of Pensylvania" will possess a great advantage over most books devoted to bird life.

ENGRAVINGS.

The following is a complete list of the illustrations: Horned grebe, hooded merganser, wood duck, American bittern, night heron' sora or railbird, coot, Wilson's snipe, solitary sandpiper, killdeer partridge, marsh hawk, patridge hawk, hen hawk, or red-tail' broad-winged hawk, sparrow hawk, barn owl, screech owl, great horned owl, king-fisher, red-headed woodpecker, flicker, night hawk, whip-poor-will, kingbird, blue jay, bobolink or reedbird, red-winged blackbird, meadow lark, Baltimore oriole, purple finch, finch, chippy song sparrow goldfinch, pine finch, fox sparrow, vesper sparrow, field sparrow, grasshopper sparrow, English sparrow, snowbird, winter redbird, rose-breasted grosbeak, indigo bunting, scarlet tanager, tree swallow, cedar or cherry-bird, red-eyed vireo, yellow warbler, Maryland yellow throat, redstart, brown thrush, house wren, white-breasted nuthatch, robin, chicadee, golden-crowned kinglet and bluebird. Besides the above colored illustrations a descriptive plate showing the external anatmony of birds and describing the technical terms used in the descriptions is also given. These plates are so accurately colored and figured that the veriest tyro can with ease determine the various species, which they exhibit in such normal colors and life like attitudes. The act of Assembly, authorizing the publication of this important work, which reflects great credit on our townsman, provides that 6000 copies shall be printed to be distributed as follows:

DISTRIBUTION.

Senate, 2000; House, 3000, State Board of Agriculture, 1000. As certain employes in both branches of the Legislature receive of all public documents the same quota as the members, each Senator gets about 33 and each member of the House about 13. It would be well for all who contemplate securing copies of said report from Legislators, who have them for free distribution, in their respective districts, to remember that the demand is great and that 33 or 13 applications will exhsust a member's share.

A woman's Hand decided it.

That the latest streak of Judge J. Brewster Mc collum's luck came at the the hands of a young lady has not been known before this publication is due entirely to the extreme modesty of the daughter of Judge Henry W. Williams, of the supreme conrt. That young lady's dislike of appearing in a newspaper has been overcome, and she consents to acknowledge that it was literally at her hand that Judge McCollum secured the seniority of commission as a member of the Supreme Court over Judge James T. Mitchell, the Republican nominee, whose colleague in the campaign he became instead of his competitor by the unexpected death of Judge Trunkey in London.

When Judge Mitchell and McCollum met in Judge Willia's parlor at the Girard House the other evening, to decide by lot upon their seniority, upon which depended the honor of being chief justice for one year at the end of the term of twenty-one years, Judge Williams wrote the names of the two newly elected judges upon seperate slips of paper. The slips were then thrown into Judge McCollum's silk hat and were shaken up by Judge Williams. Miss Williams was then called in from an adjoining apartment and without having been apprized of the importance attached to what she was about to do, she was requested to draw one of the slips from the hat. Miss Williams drew and the slip which she laid in the hands of her father dashed away all the hopes which Judge Mitchell might have had of becoming even for one year chief justice of the Supreme Court, except through the death of Judge McCollum.

A Miner's Ups and Downs.

A MAN WHOM WEALTH HAS OFTEN FAVORED NOW WORKING IN THE SEWERS.

[Helena Special to Portland Oregonian.]

The story of Timothy Gallagher, who is now working in the sewers in Helena as a day laborer, is a most remarkable one, showing the ups and downs of a miner's life in this Western country. His wonderful career would furnish the novelist with material for a romance of intense interest. Fortune has smiled upon him and Fate has frowned upon him. He has been wealthy and poor by turns and good luck and bad luck have toyed with him alternately. Success did not turn his head. Reverses did not discourage him. He has won and lost, and never complained when the play went against him. And now, while he is working in the ditches, he seems to have no regrets, and talks confidently of success when he goes prospecting next year.

He landed in Leadville at the beginning of that great mining camp's boom, and within a short time become possessed of several valuable claims, one of which was the A Y and Minnie mines, a property that now has a yearly income of thousands of tons of rich ore, with millions in sight. Not having capital to develop his mines, Gallagher sold them out, realizing, however, about $50,000. With this money he went into the Red Mountain mining district and located the Iron Mask mine, but, believing that it would never develop into anything big, he sold it to Jim Burnell, of Leadville, now of Denver. Burnell had considerable work done and sold it to an English syndicate, considering himself lucky because he received $33,000 for it. Two years ago the Iron Mask was sold for $1,000,000. There has been a great amount of valuable ore taken from the mine and the supply seems inexhaustible.

Gallagher, however, stumbled on to a pocket in one of his mines, in the Red Mountain country, and cleared up $50,000, when it petered out. Leaving Red Mountain, Gallagher went to the San Juan country, where he put all his money into a hole in the ground which did not promise near as well as the mines he had owned at Leadville and Red Mountain. He went out of San Juan almost broke and turned up at Socorro, New Mexico, and began prospecting in Canon del Agua. Luck favored him, and he sold his claim for $5,000. With this money he went to Arizona and struck it moderately rich near the famous Vulture mine. He sold out for $20,000 and drifted to the Coeur d'Alene, where he again lost his all. And now he is working in the sewers at Helena, no signs of discouragement in his face or his manner, confident of his ability to "get on his feet" again and win another fortune.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.

Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.

SICK HEADACHE,

Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 293½ Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon found that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

CATARRH,
Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

A NEW HOME TREATMENT.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. N. B.—For catarrhal discharges peculiar to females (whites) this remedy is a specific. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. DIXON & SON, 304 West King St., Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

He hopes all sufferers will try his Remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address, REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburg, Kings County, New York. A-&-co.-dec-7-1y

Wyoming Commercial College

This Institution is a high grade Business College, giving instruction in every department of business education. In addition to the regular business course it makes a specialty of Phonography, Type-writing, Telegraphy, and Ornamental Penmanship. The prominent feature of the Commercial Course is its practical character. Nearly every set of books has been taken from first-class business establishments, and a large proportion of the course in book-keeping is made up from our system of actual business practice, unsurpassed in the scientific application to modern business methods. A larger proportion of our graduates regularly obtain first-class positions than from any other commercial college in the state. Year begins Aug. 29, 1888. For circulars address W. L. A freight train on the Southern Pacific Railway recently, while running at the rate of twenty miles an hour, ran into a herd of cattle, striking a yearling calf, which jumped at one bound on the pilot of the locomotive. It quietly lay down and rode for nine miles. As the train approached Tucson the signal whistle aroused it and it jumped from the pilot and scampered across the range. This is probably the first instance on record of a tramp calf stealing a ride.

Grapes for Changeable Weather.

The effect of changeable weather on ladies of delicate constitutions is very depressing and serious, and something strengthening is needed to assist nature in withstanding the strain. Nothing more effective can be found than Speer's Port, Burgundy and Claret wines, which are in general use in the New York and other hospitals. For sale by druggists.

One Fact.

Is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact, established by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to the entire part of the system. Try it.

Denver news: Can a defeated candidate who has been "scratched" be said to be tickled?

Yonkers Statesman: One thing that seldom "gets in the soup" is the oyster at the church festival.

Norristown Herald: A Berlin scientist says salt is conductive to longevity, but it appears to have failed in the case of Lot's wife.

Pittsburg Chronicle: The beer bosses and workingmen of New York are said to be at loggerheads, though lagerheads would doubtless be more correct.

CAUTION. If you ask your druggist for POND'S EXTRACT, and he tries to impose upon you by offering "something the same as POND'S EXTRACT" do not believe him. There is nothing the same as POND'S EXTRACT. It can not be successfully imitated and any articles offered as such are only worthless counterfeits. Put no faith in any druggist trying to so deceive you. It is sold only in bottles' inclosed in buff wrappers, with the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and is never sold in bulk.

The House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—For fully an hour before Speaker Carlisle, at 12 o'clock, struck his desk with a brand new gavel and called the house to order, a scene was presented on the floor which was highly noisy and mirthful. The desks of the members were nearly all occupied, and each man talked to the other in a loud tone of voice, explaining election incidents and accidents. There was much handshaking. When Mr. Randall, looking fairly well, entered and took his seat, a few minutes before 12 o'clock, he was immediately surrounded and heartily congratulated upon his convalescence. A splendid floral offering stood his desk. There were baskets of flowers upon the desks of the speaker and Messrs. Springer, Weaver, Mills, Sayres, Richardson and others.

Mrs. Cleveland and her mother, Mrs. Folsom, occupied the front seat of the diplomatic gallery. The president's wife wore a tan colored cloth suit and a dark brown plush hat. The other galleries were filled to overflowing.

After the blind chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Milburn, had offered supplication, and the reading clerk began to call the roll of the house, the members recommenced their chatter, continuing it, while the secretary of the senate read the announcement that the upper body of congress had reassembled, was ready for business and had appointed a committee to act with a similar committee on the part of the house, to wait upon and notify the president that congress awaited his pleasure.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The Fiftieth congress assembled for its second and final session at noon.

Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, was the first member of the senate to make an appearance on the floor.

As the hands of the big senate clock moved on to the meridian mark the chamber rapidly filled with members.

Mr. Ingalls announced the senate in session.

The senate then went into informal recess to await the president's message.

The Cause of a Murder.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 3.—The funeral services of John B. King, the victim, and George Donovan, the murderer, were held yesterday and both were largely attended. An additional motive for the crime, to that of jealousy, was discovered at the autopsy, when it was found both were suffering from a similar affliction. Donovan accused King of sterility, and circumstances tending to justify the accusation, he shot him.

A Defaulter Captured.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Dec. 3.—The following telegram, which means that Will Schreiber, the absconding bank teller, has been captured, has been received here by L. K. Ong cashier of the bank:

"SIR. THOMAS, Ont., Dec. 2.—Everything all right. Will sign agreement to-morrow at Windsor and get all the papers and part of cash. W. J. LUCAS."

She Was Forced to an Insane Asylum.

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Thomas Kean, the wife of a prominent fruit merchant of this city, has been released from the insane asylum on a writ of habeas corpus. She had been forcibly taken to the asylum three weeks ago.

Fatal Collision.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 3.—Two freight trains collided at Solomon's Gap, on the New Jersey Central. Two firemen were killed, and an engineer fatally scalded.

Death of Henry R. Low.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Henry R. Low, New York state senator from Sullivan county, died in this city Sunday afternoon.

BRIEF MENTION.

Dr. Francis Tumblety, who was mixed up in the Whitechapel murders, arrived in New York.

The failure of Volney P. Brown and Chester H. and Charles T. Brown, wool growers of Rochester, is the largest in that city for years. Liabilities, $200,000.

TATE SPRINGS, TENN., July 4, 1888.
The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.:

During the spring of 1871, while working in the field at my home in Morgan county, Ga., I pulled off my shoes to give my feet a rest. Unfortunately, I walked into a clump of poison oak, and in a few days my feet were in a terrible condition, and I could not put on a shoe because of the soreness and swelling. I was treated as poison oak cases usually are, and everything was healed up. About the same time the following spring, 1872, my feet became sore again, as at first, and every succeeding spring for five years brought back the same condition of the disease, only each time it became more distressing, because I began to think it was a lifetime trouble. Finally, I was induced to try Swift's Specific. I took six bottles, and to-day am entirely well. My improvement was gradual from the first, and no evidence of the disease remains. I shall take pleasure in testifying as to its curative properties. It is the greatest blood purifier in existence. Yours truly, J. L. MORGAN.

The foregoing certificate is taken at random from thousands of letters in possession of the Swift Specific Co., and presented simply as a sample. It is a voluntary statement, giving facts and results of the case. Its accuracy and genuineness are beyond question.

MASON & HAMLIN

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.

Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, they have been awarded highest honors in competition with best makers, they have received. Illustrated catalogues $22 TO $900. free.

Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim for their pianos, that they are superior to all others. They acquire the high excellence achieved by other leading makers in the art of piano building, but still claim superiority. This they attribute solely to the remarkable improvement introduced by them in the year 1865, and now known as the "MASON & HAMLIN PIANO STRINGER," by the use of which is secured the greatest possible purity and refinement of tone, greatest power, evenness of scale, and the most perfect and permanent quality of tuning. Illustrated catalogues free. Warerooms, 154 Tremont St., Boston; 46 East 14th St., New York; 149 Wabash Ave., Chicago.
